

Maternal Early Childhood Sustained Home-Visiting

Maternal Early Childhood Sustained Home-Visiting (MECSH) aims to improve the health, development, and social well-being of families with new babies in need of additional sustained support. The model supports positive transitions to parenting, positive parenting skills, future-oriented and aspirational thinking, problem-solving skills, the ability to mobilize resources, and healthy relationships.

What is the model’s approach to providing home visiting services?	Home visits take place based on the child’s age. Families may receive a minimum of three prenatal visits. After the child’s birth, families receive visits weekly until the child is 6 weeks old, every 2 weeks until the child is 12 weeks old, every 3 weeks until the child is 6 months old, every 6 weeks until the child is 12 months old, and every 2 months until the child is 2 years old. MECSH recommends families initiate services prenatally, but allows families to enroll up to 8 weeks after the child is discharged from the hospital. MECSH’s service population includes the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none">  Expectant caregivers  Families with low incomes  Caregivers who are unmarried or single  Caregivers with limited access to education  Families with a history of substance use or in need of treatment  Families with a history of child abuse or neglect/involvement with child welfare system  Families experiencing mental health concerns, including maternal depression and anxiety
Who is implementing the model?	Home Visitors MECSH was implemented by 305 home visitors in 2022. The model requires a bachelor’s degree in nursing for home visitors. Home visitors are required to maintain a caseload of 20 to 30 families. Supervisors MECSH was implemented by 68 supervisors in 2022.
